Residence Life & Student Housing

Student Programmer

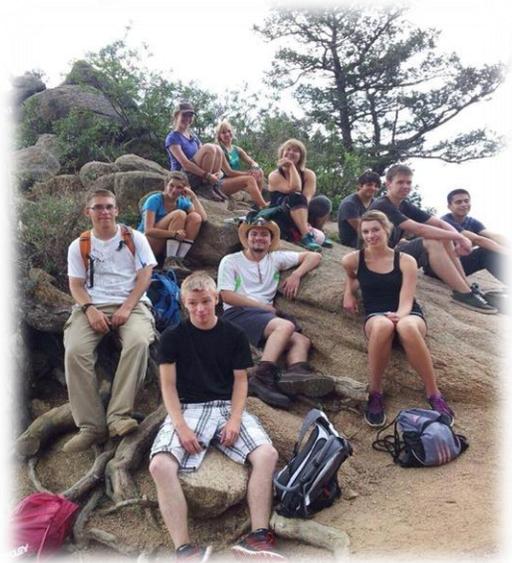

The Residence Life Student Programmer contributes significantly to the on-campus student experience by developing and implementing large scale student programs aimed at enhancing our residents' educational, social, and personal growth.

The Student Programmer is a live-in staff member that is required to live in the University residence halls for the entire academic year. The primary duties of this position include the following:

- Participate as a member of the Resident Education Senior Staff Team
- Develop, implement, and evaluate large scale student programs with targeted growth objectives for on-campus residents
- Partner with RA staff in developing a rapport with on-campus residents and maintaining an on-campus presence
- Support the success of residence hall Community Associations, including their initiatives and programs

The Programmer position is integral in delivering a quality on-campus living experience to UNM students. The Programmer has the opportunity to connect students to one another for their long-term personal and academic success.

If you are interested in this position, we encourage you to:

- Live on-campus and work toward becoming a RA
- Actively participate in your campus community
- Demonstrate excellent academic performance

Programmer recruitment begins around January-February of each year.

The Programmer is compensated with a $650 monthly stipend and a free residence hall room for the academic year.
